Bishop Haven estimates the wealth of the Methodist Episcopal denomination as at least one thousand million dollars, and says: "We do not pay a mill per year tax on our capital for the world's Christianization, outside of our own parishes."

There is seldom a line of glory writ-ten upon a man's face but a line of suf-fering runs parallel with it; and they that read the lustrous syllables of the one and stop not to decipher the spotted and worn inscription of the other, get the lesser half of the lesson earth has to give.

The estimated expenses of San Francisco, for the currant fiscal year amount to the sum of $3,437,356, of which $2,441,756 has to be raised by taxation on property. The assessment roll will be about $250,000,000, and the rate of taxation $1 on each $100.

Croup, it is stated, can be cured in one minute, and the remedy issimply alum and sugar. The way to accom-plish the deed is to take a knife and shave off in small particles a teaspoonful of alum; then mix it with twice its quantity of sugar, to make it palatable and administer as quickly as possible. Almost instantaneous relief will follow.

All settlers are required to file with the Registry of the Land Office notice of their claims are liable to be forfeited.

An arrival at San Francisco, from Melbourne, reports that at the Life Loyalty Islands, near New Zealand, on the night of March 28th there was a sharp shock of earthquake, followed by others the next day. On the evening of the 30th there was a fearful much damage to shock, doing much damage to the buildings, followed by a great tidal wave, sweeping away three villages and inflicting immense destruction to life and property.

On last Friday a shocking accident occurred at Copp's ranch, near Antelope, in Yolo county. A little child of William Howell, who was working the ranch on lease, accidently set the house on fire and craweled under the bed with its clothes in flames. The father ran in tr rescue the little one, but in doing this was so severly burned that he died shortly afterward, as did also the child. Train has broken out again, and has several columns in a New York paper about physchology, evolution, universally pre-natal force and so forth. Among other things, Train says; "I have no evidence that I shall ever die; I have never lived like other men, why shall I die as they die?" Great Heaven! Will not some patriot see to it that he does not die as other men generally do?-Chicago Times.

When Governor Harvey and Treasurer Hayes, of Kansas, were about to be sworn into their respective offlces, they met in the Governor's private room. While waiting for the Supreme Court Judge, who was detained for a few moments beyond the appointed time, the Treasurer-elect said: "It would be a good joke if the Chief Justice should make a mistake and swear in the best looking man for Governor," "Yes," the Governor promptly replied, "and it would be a greater joke if he should swear in the honestest man as Treasurer." The Colonel stopped the conversation.

SOMETHING should be done to save the graded streets. It is neither economical nor wise to expend large sums in grading streets and then leave them to be converted into dust and blown away. The lately graded portion of Spring street has become almost as dusty as before the improvment was made. Sprinkling would save the street and abate the nuisance to which the residents on either side of the street are now subjected. The Waltham Watches at $30; 14 karat authorities should set their wits to work and devise some means for regularly sprinkling all the graded streets in the city. Unless something of this kind is done very soon the grading in a few localities will disappear in dust.

Only Timothy Guy.

It is a feeble attempt to guy the public, that of the Republican State Convention in nominating TIMOTHY GUY PHELPS for Governor. It was SARGENT and GORHAM and BORUCK that did it. They had everything their own way; and their own way was to nominate a man who will be beaten ten thousand votes. The offices seemed to go a-begging. As soon as it became evident that SAR-GENT and GORHAM controlled the Convention, candidates became as scarce as blades of grass in Kansas or Republicans in San Francisco. Leading Republicans saw at once that the goose of their party was emphatically cooked for this campaign, and not wishing to be sacrificed, they refused to go before the Convention. PHELPS was nominated by acclamation, and a silence like that of a funeral fell over heavy cassimere pants at $4 per pair, the assemblage. It was a death blow to the honest Republicans of the State. PHELPS is, perhaps, the most unpopular man that could be presented for the suffrages of the people. He is an extreme Radical, and does not know that the war is over. He is the probable author of that fanatical and bloodthirsty production known as the address of the Republican State Central Committee, and it will com-If you want a good suit of clothes prise his campaign speech. In a speech which he made from the balcony of the St. George Hotel, Sacramento, in 1861, he wanted to hang every Southern-born man in the State, and he would express the same sentiment now if he thought it would eatch the popular ear. He was in the State Senate from Francisco in 1860 or '61. In 1862 he was elected to Congress from this District, which then included San Francisco. He was afterward appointed Collector of Customs for San Francisco, and has always been a sort of man FRIDAY to the Federal office ring. He has no sympathy with the people, and if he should chance to be elected GORHAM would be Governor.

The Railroad and Politics.

no part in the political campaign now progressing in this State. This is a prove the beginning of a more healthful era in the history of California politics. For some years past-in fact, almost from the organization of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, that corporation has taken an active part in every campaign that has occurred in our State. The causes which led the company into politics have never, we believe, been clearly understood by the people. Many of these causes have passed away, and as neither they nor their attendant consequences will be likely to again present themselves before the public, there is now no necessity for attempting an cause was that of self-defense, and as circumstances may again compel the company to assume that attitude, it is a legitimate subject for discussion. Certain once influential journals in this State, from motives which were perhaps more selfish than any that ever actuated the railway managers, assumed an aggressive policy toward them, and by constant iteration of wrongs, fancied or real, perpetrated on the public by the railway company, created a prejudice against them which the wily and unscrupulous dragged Metalic and Wooden Coffins, Shrouds, into politics, more for the purpose of self-aggrandizement than a desire to defend the rights of the community. Finding themselves likely to be attacked in the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches of our State realized the necessity for defending themselves with the same weapons used in attacking them, and our political campaigns soon assumed the complexion of railroad and anti-railroad. In these contests the virulent and in many instances unjust manner, by men and journals who sought to excite and use the prejudices of the people for the purpose of secu-ring to themselves the emoluments maple trees are growing in sky-lighted the plants. The discovery has been productive of immense good; it taught the railroad company that it was a few demagogues and not the people they had been fighting; it opened the eyes of the people to the fact that they and the railroad company were the proper persons to determine on all questions of freights and fares. The lesson of this discovery to the railroad comcompany is that their interests will not suffer in the hands of the people, and their consequent retiracy from the political arena. To the people it is a conviction that the devil is not so black as he is painted and that it is for the interest of the railroad company to carry freight and passengers as low as possible without loss. To the average mind these conclusions appear correct. It is the interest of the railroad company to populate the State and develop her resources. They know that to charge such carrying rates as will prevent the settlement and cultivation of the country along the lines of their roads is not the best plan to induce population and secure development. There is a principle in this that does not require State legislation in the shape of a ludicrous and impracticable freights and fares bill to bring out and inculcate. Let the Napa City, Calistoga, St. Helena, Oakland, Stockton, Coulterville, Modesto, Merced City, Santa Barbara and San Gabriel Mission were "done" in tourist style. We lingered longer at Yosemite Valley, gazing at its wonderful hights, climbing on foot its craggy cafions and drinking in, per capacity, its many waterfalls. Doubtless, Yosemite is the grandest public park in the nation.

La Grange was our "Alhambra," (here we rest) en route to and from Yosemite. Here we met five cousins we had never seen before, and an old schoolmate. Here we studied placer mining by hydraulie power and rock-er and examined one ditch seventeen miles long, four feet deep, six feet wide and costing $400,000. A. G. Abell and M. D. Boruck to Run the State Central Committee.

[SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.]

SACRAMENTO, June 11th .- The Republican State Convention assembled this morning. The first business transacted was the passage of a resolution that the State Central Committee shall consist of one member elected by each Judicial District and five at large appointed by the Chairman.

The Convention then proceeded to complete the nominations for the State ticket.

J. J. Green was renominated for Controller. R. E. Gardner was nominated for Surveyor-General.

Roberts of Santa Barbara nominated W. H. Norway of Santa Barbara, and claimed that his nomination was but an act of justice to the Southern counties. The vote was taken with the following result: Gardner, 220; Norway, 133. Wm. Beckman of Sacramento was nominated for State Treasurer. E. D. SACRAMENTO, June 10th .- 11 P. M. The Convention re-assembled at eight o'clock this evening. The Committee on Permanent Organization submitted a report, recommending the following as permanent officers: Hon. A. A. Sargent, President; H. O. Beatty of Sacramento, H. S. Sargent of San Joaquin, Solomon Jewett of Kern and A. G. Abellof San and its public buildings beautiful. We Francisco, Vice-Presidents; M. D. Boruck of San Francisco, Secretary; J. D. Barnard of San Francisco and John Barrett of Sacramento, Assistant Secavorably at first, a snow-storm and retaries; S. H. Mott of San Francisco,

The Committee on Resolutions submitted a platform reaffirming the State platform of 1871 and the National platform of 1872. The resolutions, in brief, expressed confidence in What Alleghaney City is to Pittsburg and Brooklyn to New York, and Evman of the Pennsylvania Convention, on the subject of the third term, as a settlement of that issue, and resolved that the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments must be maintained; that all attempts to prevent the exercise of the Church, the Grand Central Hotel and franchise by colored citizens must be met as attempts to revive the civil war; that the cost of the State and county governments should be reduced one-half by an economical administration of affairs and by the abandonment of the practice of voting the people's money to institutions called into existence without State action; that the party will aid in the development of the resources of the State and demands that the Legislature assume control of lakes and rivers, subject to mining and mechanical rights only, and provide a system of irrigation, the work to be under the control of partis owning irrigable lands; that freedom of State from ecclesiastical control must be maintained, and no public school moneys diverted to support sectarian schools, that the Central Pacific Railroad is a State corporation, amenable to the laws of the State; that the State has a right to regulate freights and fares within her borders, and the General Government has the same power on the inter-State lines; that the people should exact pledges from the candidates for the Legisla-ture binding themselves to reduce fares and freights to a fair standard and abolish all unjust discriminations; that the party is opposed to all schemes whereby, under pretense of providing gas and water, parties seek to enrich themselves at the expense of the community. They finally invite the cooperation of the farming interest in carrying out the measures recommended in the platform and deprecate dissension in the party ranks.

A resolution to limit the Presidential tenure of office to two terms was voted down, Gorham opposing it.

A resolution was adopted that all citizens, regardless of color, are entitled to equal educational facilities. McFarland of Sacramento introduced a substitute for the railroad plank in the platform, holding that, while op-posed to subsidies and trespass by corporations on the rights of the people, it is not politic to force corporations into politics by hostile resolutions. He supported the resolution in a speech. Gorham followed in a strong speech, scoring and denouncing the Railroad Company and claiming that this plank

According to the Francisco Call, Dr.

Mr. Cole, Pacific Agent for the Mis-

This we believe to be a fiction of the Kansas editorial brain for the purpose of and the manufacturer has started four stemming the immigration tide from different times, but always sold out Missouri and Kansas. Since this reputed interview, Dr. Hall has written to Mr. Smith, of the St. Charles Res- & Bradley should have their chairs on taurant, informing him that he is making preparations to return to Los Angeles, bringing his family. We know Mr. Cole never gave utterance to any slanders against California, for he was in joyous expectancy of being sent to this State as the Resident Pacific Agent of his company. We know that he likes California, for on a visit to Keller's wine cellars, he toasted our orange groves in Hock, Angelica, sherry, claret, El Dorado, port and Cucamongo wines, and clinched it by a generous horn of brandy. In an after visit to Wolfskill's grove, he eloquently discussed orange budding and the growth of fruit trees in a knowing manner. We know Cole was delighted, for he put in his trunk a mammoth shaddock as a souvenir of Wolfskill's grove, and carried a specimen of Kel-

We are very fortunate in finding a material so convenient with which to grade our streets. The gravel and sand in the hills in and around the stated, it makes a very poor surface for a street grade. For instance, if it registered Thursday at the Occidental Hotel. Also Chas. Lindley at the Russ. the Court House and First street on the East side, was not rolled nor sprinkled before it was used, and a ride over it now will remind one of a drive across a potato field. Parties who have rode over this street are ready to pronounce against the gravel and cement grade. We have closely observed the process of grading our streets, and wherever the rolling and sprinkling have been attended to, the streets are in elegant condition.

Letter from Orange.

EDITOR HERALD: A representative instance of what may be done with a small piece of ground is shown in the case of Mr. N. D. Harwood. This gentleman has ten acres of land in Orange, and has lived on it three years, taking it "virgin soil." A few days ago he said this to me: "My place has very nearly kept my family the past year, and next year it will do much more than keep it." Mr. Harwood's Muscat grapes are unsurpassed in quality and the yield is abundant, one vine not two years old last season producmeda street broke yesterday morning and flooded King's blocksmith shor and flooded King's blacksmith shop, Bunker Hill Gazette: "It is easy enough to tell what can be done, but more to the point to tell what is done." Granted, and the above is a specimen of what has been done, is done and will be done. He will reply the grapes are sour. Doubtless. Mr. G. P. Cuddaback has a ten-acre vineyard set with cuttings one year ago last Spring, that now has quite a crop of grapes on it, in spite of "that terrible frost." The crop will be a paying one this year. Mr. Shane's lot larger than buckshot, though of course limited as to quantity, Messrs. Lotspeich & Co. have surveyed a tract of land in the neighborhood of the Oge & Sibley place, and offer it for sale in small lots. It is supplied with water from the Santiago, and is situated on both sides of the river bed. The Messrs. Lotspeich intend erecting a mill in the neighborhood of this tract in a short time. The location is favorable for their purpose, and no one can donbt the success of such an enterprise.

HYGEIAN HOME. I was informed last night that three patients have already left the Hygeian home, cured. It was represented to give certificates expressing their sense the climate of Orange. They have chartered a special train that will return to Los Angeles the same stage from the United States hotel gies, and promise to transport them safely to and from the Hygeian Home. There are three hundred feet of porch, above and below, at that self-same building; the porch is wide, and several good performers on the violin will be present. Nothing has been said of these things, but we cannot help thinking of what might happen. ### San Bernardino Items.

[From the Argus of June 11th.] Some fine specimens of ore came in from the Ord district yesterday. It is estimated that the rock will assay over $300 to the ton. It will be sent to San Francisco for assay. We did not learn the name of the ledge from which it was taken.

The Chinaman who was before Justice Mathews some time ago for using bad language to Mr. Rittler's wife was again before Justice Wagner for repeating like offence to Mr. Perrie's wife, after receiving a sound drubbing from Mr Perrie. The Celestial was fined $7 and Mr. Perrie $1. We understand that Mr. Hall, the railroad contractor, will put on fifty more men on Monday next, for the purpose of hurrying tracklaying be-tween this place and Cucamongo. It is his intention to have the cars running here by the Fourth of July, on which date they intend to run an excursion train between Los Angeles and this city.

San Bernardino is a bad locality for horse thieves.

From the Argus, 10th. Mr. Byrne yesterday shipped to San Francisco $286 in a silver bar which came from Panamint. It shows a high grade of metal.

Wilmington Items.

[From the Enterprise.] They are talking about the warm weather in the back-country. We have none of it. There is no room for improvement on the weather here at this time.

Gen. B. S. Alexander, of the U. S. Engineer Corps, in a conversation the other day expressed the belief that Wilmington harbor can be made as good as that of San Diego, at a cost of twenty miles of ordinary railroad. Of course, not as large, but sufficient to meet all commercial demands. The body of Antonio Coning, who fell from a vessel at San Pedro on the 28th of last month and was drowned, was picked up on Monday afternoon, floating near where it sunk. His remains were brought up to Wilmington wharf, where an inquest was held by C. G. Keyes, and the verdict rendered, after careful examination—"accidental drowning." The passenger travel and freights keep up to good figures. The Ancon brought 110 passengers and 398 tons of freight; the Mohongo, 100 passengers and 60 tons of freight. Besides these, are the exclusively freight steamers, carrying combustibles, etc. The anchorage is also well dotted with sail vessels, carrying lumber, coal and railroad iron.

The Interior of the Ocean.

The popular ideas with regard to the sinking of bodies in the sea have usually been quite unscientific. Some have theorized to the effect that, in the case of ships which founder at sea, they sink to a certain depth and then float about until broken to pieces or thrown upon some bank beneath the sea-indeed, a book was sometime ago published, sustaining this idea. Others, again, argue that the bouyant force of the water at great depths is enormous, and due to the whole pressure of the water above, and that all bodies which are lighter than water at the surface will, if sunk to the bottom and detached from the sinker, shoot upward with a great velocity, or, in other words, that the density of the water increases directly with the

Now, it is proved by the most reliable investigations that, though the pressure increases with the deptheven to the amount of fifteen pounds upon every square inch for every thirty-four feet in depth-the density is not thereby increased sensibly, owing to the incompressibility of the water, so that, in reality, neither the bouyant force nor the resistance to the motion of any body, is sensibly augmented from the surface to the bottom. At the depth of 3,000 fathoms, for instance, the pressure upon a square inch is nearly 80,000, pounds but the column of 18,000 feet of water is only shortened about six y feet. The density is thus but slightly increased, but the effects of such enormous pressure upon compressible bodies-as air. wood, etc-is to condense them into a smaller bulk, by which they may be rendered heavier than water, and will sink of their own weight. A piece of wood cannot sink to the bottom of the ocean, but a very slight extraneous force will bring it to the surface.

Women love but once-shun that Women hate in proportion to their

Most women retail their virtue, but many like to risk it. Not all women lie, but no woman ever tells the whole truth. Hatred is at the bottom of love, as death is at the bottom of life. One always thinks he is in love when going up stairs; coming down he is not so sure of it. You cannot impede a woman in her love; you cannot recall the arrow shot into space. A woman is a fortress which can always be taken-by him who knows how to make the assault. Man's vanity is irritated by defeat and consoled with a rupture. Woman's vanity acts in an inverse sense. Ask not a woman's heart; she has but one, and may give it. Of all fatal presents a woman's heart is the most | quent, and unless payment is made before, deadly.

Do not love a romantic woman. She will make an ideal of you which you cannot realize, and which it will grieve you to destroy.

Banish Vulgarisms-Slang.

Such language as "you bet," "you get," "I reckon I do," "thanks," and the whole class, of which these words are specimens, should never be tolerated in society. Do not use it on any occasion, and then it will never be presumptive enough to suggest itself in the place of something better. As the mirror reflects your face, so do words your ideas and the cultivation of your inner nature. "You bet is intended to mean I will, or it is so, why not express yourself in this language? "You get is meant for go, which is the language of gentleman and ladies. the other is the slang of a grog-shop. "Thanks;" how often do we hear this word flippantly used by persons claiming to be in good society. It is highly improper; a properly educated person will always say: "I thank you; it is prettier and more respectful. But you are told that "thanks" is "short" for many thanks, anything short of the full sentence is inelegant
